

Re-Consumers Bankers Association (CBA) move to use the "established business relationship" to gain an exemption in the Indiana Telephone Privacy Law. The residents of Indiana approved the actions of that resulted in enacting this law due to frustration with mounting "Junk Phone Calls" and unnecessary phone solicitations. This is like the current need to filter "Spam" from daily e-mail, it's an unnecessary nuisance that consumers are asking relief from. I get daily postal mail and e-mail from banks, loan companies, and phone companies (as I'm sure that you do). Imagine what would result if these companies could call your home at will!!! Please do not weaken the Indiana Telephone Privacy Law by enacting this CBA attempt to circumvent a very functional and vital consumer protection law.
